CONCEPT NOTE:

We welcome you to the National Conference on “Current Police Laws: Contemporary Issues & Challenges” aims to bring together leading academicians, students, human rights activists, academic scientists, researchers, research scholars, other intellectuals, etc. to exchange and share their experiences and research results on all aspects of “Current Police Laws: Contemporary Issues & Challenges”. It also provides a premier interdisciplinary platform for researchers, practitioners and educators etc. to present and discuss the most recent innovations, trends, and concerns as well as practical challenges encountered and solutions adopted in the fields of “Current Police Laws: Contemporary Issues & Challenges”.

The Indian Police was established in 1861 under the Police Act, 1861 (Act V of 1861) to reorganize the police force and to make it an efficient instrument for the prevention and detection of crime. However, the organization was seen as the strong arm of the colonial state for a long time. It has undergone a huge change in terms of constitutional and legislative mandate, organizational structure, role and responsibility in the post-independence period. The rule of law is the basic feature of Indian Constitution and the bedrock of democracy. We need a strong law enforcement agency for the prevention, detection, investigation of criminal cases and maintenance of public order. There have been efforts on the part of the Government of India and Government of Uttarakhand to modernize the police organization to meet the emerging challenges of law enforcement in the changing socio-economic and socio-political environment. There is a felt need for academic study of issues related to law enforcement and to bring about structural, procedural, technological and operational changes to improve law enforcement activities. A decision was taken in the DGsP/IGsP Conference, 2018 held in a Tekanpur, Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh to set up re-engineering of processes to improve the quality of law enforcement activities(v) to study new legislations, latest amendments to laws, case laws/landmark judgments of Constitutional Courts and to work out standard operating procedures (SOPs) to improve the quality of investigation(vi) to serve as a forum for academicians and practicing police officers to pursue studies & activities of mutual interest for the benefit of their parent organizations.

The National Conference aims to examine and analyze the “Current Police Laws: Contemporary Issues & Challenges”. The National Conference will be attended by various national delegates and speakers as also representatives from the national Diaspora representing the stakeholders in the digital ecosystem and alive web. The main objective is to provide a platform for stake holder like organizations working in international and national level, legislatures, civil societies, researchers, practitioners, academicians, activists and policy makers to deliberate and discuss on what is required to build strategies and to address the constraints in inclusive practices towards betterment of the society.

The Organizing Committee welcomes original papers, relating to, but not limited to the following topics.

Theme of the National Conference

- Police and Human Rights in India
- Police Reforms and its dimensions
